Inquirers: We feed our curiosity by asking questions and personal research. We know how to learn on our own and with others. We love to learn!

Knowledgeable: We understand big ideas, concepts, and knowledge in many different subjects. We know about important issues and ideas, both at home and around the world.

Communicators: We express ourselves in more than one language and in many ways. We work together by sharing our ideas and listening to the perspectives of others.

Principled: We are honest and fair, and we respect the rights of people everywhere. We take responsibility for our actions and their consequences.

Open-Minded: We are proud of our own cultures and are interested in the cultures of others. We look for a variety of points of view, and learn from different values and lifestyles.

Caring: We show compassion and respect. We are committed to community service, and we take action to make a positive difference in the lives of others and in the world around us.

Risk-Takers: We approach new and sometimes scary situations with confidence. We are creative and tough in the face of a new challenge or change.

Balanced: We understand the importance of balancing different aspects of our lives – academic, physical, and emotional – to achieve well-being for ourselves and others around the world.

Reflective: We are always reflecting on our ideas and experiences. We think about our strengths and weaknesses in order to become a better learner and a better person every day.
